Safeguarding Adults

All people have a right to live in society free from abuse or neglect.

We will all work together to prevent and stop the risk and experience of abuse, while at the same time making sure that the adult's wellbeing is promoted.

What is Abuse?

Abuse is a very broad term that can take different forms and can occur in different environments and circumstances.

Domestic abuse – this includes psychological, physical, sexual, financial and emotional abuse within an intimate relationship or family environment. This includes forced marriage and Female Genital Mutilation.

Modern slavery – can include victims brought in from overseas and vulnerable people in the UK, being held and forced to work against their will.

Self-neglect – covers a wide range of behaviour such as neglecting to care for one's personal hygiene, health or surroundings and includes behaviour such as hoarding.

Discriminatory abuse – covers forms of harassment, slurs or similar treatment because of race, gender/gender identity, age, disability, sexual orientation and religion.

Organisational abuse – includes neglect and poor practice within an individual or specific care setting such as a hospital or care home, or in relation to care in one's home. This may include one-off incidents and on-going ill treatment.

Neglect or acts of omission – including ignoring medical, emotional or physical care needs, withholding the necessities of life such as adequate nutrition.

Sexual abuse – including rape, indecent exposure, sexual harassment and other forms of abuse with a sexual element.

Sexual exploitation – involves situations and relationships where people receive something such as accommodation or money in return for participation in sexual acts.

Physical abuse – involves assault, slapping, hitting, pushing etc.

Psychological abuse – includes emotional abuse, intimidation or control etc.

Financial or material abuse – includes theft, coercion in relation to an adult's financial affairs, misappropriation of property etc.

Under the Care Act 2014, Derbyshire County Council, in conjunction with the police, health and other partners, has responsibility to make enquiries into a situation where abuse is suspected, and determine whether any action needs to be taken.

If you have any concerns please ring 999 in an emergency, 101 in a non emergency or Call Derbyshire for information and advice on 01629 533190.

Keeping Adults Safe

We all may need help to stop abuse or neglect at some time in our life. If you need help to make abuse stop or have any other community safety problems, contact us at any time using the numbers at the end of this leaflet and we will make sure we put you in touch with services/legal assistance that can help.

Are you, or is someone you know, experiencing some form of abuse or neglect?

The person abusing you, or someone you know, may be:

- A member of the family, a friend or neighbour
- A paid or volunteer carer
- A professional
- Someone not known to you.

Certain situations may make us, or someone we know more at risk of abuse and neglect. Some examples may be:

- A carer who is suffering from stress
- People who misuse drugs or alcohol
- People living in a community where they are experiencing harassment or anti-social behaviour.

Some adults may need extra help to stop abuse because:

- They have a learning or physical disability
- They are frail because of their age or illness
- They have mental ill health.

Derbyshire County Council is here to provide assistance whether or not you currently receive social or health care services. In all situations we will listen to your views and wishes to try to achieve the best outcome for you. However, if it is felt that you or others are at high risk of harm then the local authority may need to share this information with a third party, for example a GP or the police.

If an adult is not able to understand the risks of abuse, the local authority can identify an advocate to represent them. The adult and/or their representative will be included throughout the contact.

Help is available for all adults who are experiencing or are at risk of abuse, including those who arrange and pay for their own care (self-funders). If you wish to talk this through further please contact the number below and you will be put in touch with a social worker to discuss your concerns.

We will talk about:

- The abuse you or someone you know may have suffered
- What you wish to happen next
- What other people including professionals, family members and carers can do to assist, where appropriate.

What happens next?

- We will work with you, and possibly other agencies where appropriate, to enquire about your situation
- We will discuss with you ways we can help you to stop the abuse, and provide options of support to help you recover
- We may offer you someone independent to talk to, such as an advocate
- Together we will draw up a plan to keep you as safe as possible, which can be reviewed when required
- You can keep a copy of the plan if it is safe for you to do so.

Who else can help?

- In an emergency always telephone 999 or 101 in a non-emergency
- Contact Call Derbyshire 01629 533190 for information and advice
- Speak to someone you trust who provides you with help/care such as your GP, home care staff, district nurse, staff at a day centre or residential care home
- Tell a trusted friend, neighbour or relative.

Questions and Answers

Q. Will people believe me?

A. We will always take your concerns seriously. We know that abuse does happen and we will listen carefully to what you tell us. We will ask you what you want to happen to stop the abuse.

Q. Will the police turn up at my door?

A. Not unless this is the only way you can be protected.

Q. Will the person who has carried out the abuse be told?

A. In cases where the person carrying out the abuse is a professional, the complaint will be discussed with their manager. In all cases you will be offered protection to stop the person harming you again if they are told about your complaint.

Q. If I want to remain anonymous is that possible?

A. Yes, we will still investigate any concerns you may have. There is a government charter for people who want to 'whistleblow'.

Q. If I want to report my carer will I lose my services?

A. No, we will ensure that we keep you safe and well.

Q. If I report my care home staff what will happen to me?

A. We will take any concerns about care homes very seriously. We have dedicated teams who work with care homes to ensure residents receive good quality care. You will not be asked to move unless you wish for that to happen.
